Synopsis:

"The 21st century will come and everything will be fine. India will be happy and prosperous. it will again become a golden bird" Since years, country's leaders and those temptations.... and the innocent mind of the people of India believed in such temptations. But the result was nothing. India, which used to be a golden bird, has been looted for centuries. First it was looted by foreign invaders and then by Firangis. India got independence only after it was divided into pieces. Then those leaders on whom India believed that they would make it a Golden bird again, they started looting it and loaded India with many scams. Is India really free now? Will India ever be able to become a golden bird again? Let's see with this play
